

AllSides Children’s Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) Notice

Effective Date: August 30, 2023

This COPPA Notice explains how AllSides Technologies, Inc. (“we,” “our”) handles the personal information of children under thirteen years-old who use our School Membership log-ins through an arrangement with schools we serve. This Notice also applies to and describes our Mismatch service. This Notice applies to our website (www.allsides.com) (each website a “Site” and collectively, the “Sites”), or other related online or mobile applications available as part of our services to schools, including the Mismatch service (each application an “App,” collectively, the “Apps”; collectively with the Sites, “the Platform”). Our Platform provides news coverage and helps student readers to identify ideological trends in news coverage. Schools choose to use our Platform in the school context to support student learning and critical thinking skills. Via our Mismatch service, schools and teachers can choose to profile their own classrooms and students and use those profiles to find and interact with diverse classrooms at other schools.

This notice solely describes our practices regarding the personal information of children and compliance with the Children’s Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA). It does not apply to our practices more broadly. Our general privacy notice can be found at: <https://www.allsides.com/privacy-policy>. Our general notice may permit broader uses of information than is reflected in this COPPA notice. In case of a conflict between this notice and our general notice with respect to the treatment of children’s data, this notice controls.

Information We Collect

In all cases, as required by law, we do not collect more personal information from your child than is reasonably necessary for them to access and use the Platform.

Information we collect directly from children.

We may collect the following information from children:

- Any content a child uploads to the site, in forums and other areas designed for user interaction.
- A child’s video image and video conversations with other students, potentially including via our Mismatch service, where a child is using a product with that functionality, and related records of interaction with our Platform.
- The contents of surveys provided by students after a Mismatch discussion with another classroom. These surveys may ask students to evaluate and summarize their interactions with others through Mismatch.

Information we collect about a child through automatic data collection technologies.

We may collect data regarding a child’s use of the Platform through cookies, web beacons, and other automatic data collection technologies. This data may include a child’s IP address, the date(s) and time(s) he or she accessed the Platform, the page(s) and content a child accessed during his or her visit, websites that a child was last on when he or she accesses the Platform, and a child's precise geolocation when entering the platform.

Cookies are small identifiers which are stored on a child's device for the purpose of identifying his or her browser or storing information or saving settings within that browser for use in a child's next session. Cookies and similar technologies may also be used to personalize a child's visit by storing his or her preferences or displaying content based upon what a child has viewed on the Platform, or other websites. We may use these and similar technologies on the Platform and other websites and mobile applications. You can read our full cookie policy here: <https://www.allsides.com/cookie-policy>.
