The analysis resulted in AllSides issuing a Lean Left AllSides Media Bias Rating™ for Apple News.

The 2023 AllSides Apple News Bias Analysis was conducted during the three-week period from June 19-July 9 and analyzed 252 total articles. The analysis involved cross-referencing articles curated on the Apple News app with the AllSides Media Bias Rating™ for each source. AllSides

Media Bias Ratings™ are determined by multiple methodologies that ensure ratings reflect the average judgment of all Americans. The ratings are driven by a balance of input from experts and average Americans across the nation and across the political spectrum.

This report provides details about the Apple News bias analysis methodology, results, and how AllSides avoided bias on the part of the researchers.

Note that this analysis does not investigate whether the political leanings or biases displayed by Apple News are intentional. While it is possible that the political leanings are overtly or covertly intentional, it is also possible they are accidental. These leanings could be a fair reflection of content available online, the partnerships Apple has with publishers, perspectives of the average online user, or the greater effectiveness one political side has in promoting its perspectives online. Whether Apple News should provide a broader or more balanced diversity of perspectives, and whether that would support or hinder a healthier democratic society, is a philosophical or ethical question beyond the bounds of this analysis.

Background on Apple News

Apple News is a news aggregation application created by Apple for use on Apple devices, including iPhone®, Mac®, and iPad®, via the News app. Apple News has both a free and paid version; the paid version is called Apple News+ and allows users to pay a subscription fee to access paywalled content from some publications. As of July 2023, Apple News and Apple News+ are unavailable in some countries.

The aggregator works by pulling in RSS or Atom feeds from publications. Publications include a variety of sources, including news websites, newspapers, and magazines.

Apple News has many personalization options, which it describes on its website, stating, “As you read, Apple News gets a better read on your interests, and suggests relevant stories that you can easily find throughout the app.” Users can follow or block outlets in the app to either encourage or prevent them from appearing in various personalized sections, such as the “For You” section, or among hundreds of topics sections, such as politics, environment, technology, and many more. Entire topics can also be blocked by the user.

Apple News states that its editors curate some sections of the app, such as the “Top Stories” and “Trending Stories” sections. (Examples pictured below). Apple explains that because the stories that appear in these sections are hand-selected by editors themselves, they are not affected by users blocking publications. Apple states on a support page, “Blocking is not supported in Top Stories or other groups curated by the Apple News editors, who vet each story in those groups for quality and accuracy.”

Apple News+ Publication List

Apple News+ listed 290 unique publications available in its Apple News+ subscription, as of July 25, 2023. See [Appendix A for the full list]. Of these publications, 11 (3.8%) were rated Left by AllSides, 15 (5.2%) were Lean Left, 20 (6.9%) were Center, 1 (0.3%) was Lean Right, and 1 (0.3%) was rated Right. An additional 242 (83.4%) outlets were not rated by AllSides at the time. The outlets encompassing those in the “Not Rated” category generally included non-political publications in the field of sports, business, food, travel, technology, outdoors, and more. AllSides only rates the bias of online, political content.

Important note on publications: Apple News posted articles from some sources that were not listed in its publications list. This included CNN \(Left bias\), The Washington Post \(Lean Left bias\), and Fox News \(Right bias\).

The list of Apple News+ publications rated by AllSides (as of July 25, 2023) are as follows:

Purpose & Methodology

AllSides conducted this comprehensive media bias analysis of Apple News to determine the political bias of Apple News based on the media outlets it curates.

Content Collection

In the analysis, AllSides collected the top six stories that appeared in Apple News' "Top Stories" section and the top six stories that appeared in the "Trending News" section on Apple News' app homepage once per day over the course of three weeks, from June 19 – July 9, 2023. In addition, AllSides pulled the stories featured in Apple News' newsletter digest every day during the same three-week period. The newsletter featured between two and four stories per day.

Because the “Top Stories” and “Trending Stories” sections appear to be unaffected by algorithms or personalization, these were the two sections AllSides chose to analyze for this report.

How AllSides Made This Analysis as Objective as Possible

AllSides only took the bias of the overall media outlet into account – not the content of the article itself. For example, any article curated from The New York Times \(Lean Left\) was considered Lean Left, reflecting the outlet’s overall AllSides Media Bias Rating at the time of the analysis. AllSides Media Bias Ratings™ reflect the average judgment of people across the political spectrum, not one individual or group. AllSides’ media bias rating methodology is based on multiple methods, including Blind Bias Surveys of Americans across the political spectrum and expert panel reviews by a multipartisan group. This prevents one elite group or individual from having a disproportionate impact on the ratings.

“Spot checks” were performed to ensure the same content was seen by different AllSides team members from different locations and from different Apple accounts in the U.S. when accessing Apple News to view the “Top Stories” and “Trending Stories” content. Other sections, including the politics section content, appeared to be personalized across different team members’ devices and thus were not taken into account for this analysis.

About AllSides Media Bias Ratings™

AllSides empowers you to understand the role media bias plays in the news and information you consume. AllSides Media Bias Ratings™ and the AllSides Media Bias Chart™ help make news bias transparent, allowing you to easily identify different perspectives and political leanings so you can get the full picture and think for yourself.

AllSides Media Bias Ratings™ are based on a scientific, multipartisan analysis, and are meant to reflect the average view of the American public. In other words, they are meant to reflect the average view of people across the political spectrum, not one individual or group.

AllSides believes there is no such thing as unbiased news, and that concealed bias can mislead and divide us. The best approach is to acknowledge and balance this bias, so that people can consider multiple viewpoints and gain a more comprehensive understanding of the world around them.

AllSides assigns a rating of Left, Lean Left, Center, Lean Right, or Right to each media outlet or writer, as well as a numerical rating using the AllSides Media Bias Meter™, which provides more nuance in each category.

The AllSides patented bias detection and display technology is powered by a combination of the ‘wisdom-of-the-crowd’ technology and statistical research and methodologies. The system utilizes multiple methods for calculating media bias, and combines them for the best results. For each source, the methodology may include:

- Blind Bias Surveys — A survey that asks respondents to rate the media bias of a news outlet on a left-right scale without knowing the news source or author they are reviewing. AllSides normalizes these data based on respondent ideology to ensure that the audience reflects the social and political diversity of the nation.
- Editorial Reviews — A multipartisan panel conducts in-depth reviews of a media outlet. The Editorial Review Panel includes people from across the political spectrum. During this process, each reviewer independently evaluates and suggests a rating for the source. Then, the group discusses individual findings, shares impressions, and comes to an agreement on the result.
- Third Party Data — When available and relevant, data that is conducted by a transparent, credible source may inform AllSides Media Bias Ratings™. AllSides always notes which third-party analyses it has taken to account on the source page for any outlet.
- Community Feedback — Visitors to AllSides.com can vote on the rating for any outlet. This feedback does not determine our ratings, but may trigger a deeper review.
- Independent Reviews — An AllSides reviewer assesses content and comes to a general conclusion on a source’s bias. This is AllSides’ lowest level of analysis, usually undertaken to give initial, low-confidence ratings.
